

Stock&Trace for Distribution Centers

Optimize your distribution operations and offer a service that enhances your customers' experience

Manage your inventory without losing visibility of each movement using Stock&Trace, a cloud-based Warehouse Management System (WMS) accessible from any device with an internet connection.

The problem to solve

Managing many products in several locations requires detailed tracking to meet customer expectations in terms of product availability and timely delivery. Maintaining an optimal supply chain becomes complex in a competitive environment where other companies also seek to efficiently meet customer needs.

Achieve your goals with Stock&Trace

Keep your customers and work teams in tune with what happens with the product from its arrival to the shipping of orders by using the system of sending automated notifications through email and EDI alerts.

Keep a detailed track of your product's traceability according to the needs of your business, whether by serial number, batches, or labels. This way, you will not lose sight of any movement that occurs with your product, allowing you to track any problem or inconvenience that may arise during the process.

Speed up your inventory and order management processes by setting up different locations with specific requirements, such as sorting or replenishment locations.

Optimize your logistic plan with the benefits that make Stock&Trace the right WMS for you

- System configurable to the characteristics of your company.
- Custom training and support.
- API management to connect with other systems (ERP, e-commerce, etc.)
- Supply of specialized hardware and material.

Do you have any doubts about the capabilities of Stock&Trace and how its use can optimize your distribution operations?

Contact us, and through a detailed analysis, we can adjust a plan tailored to your needs.
